Delivery Centers provide the human capital management, physical infrastructure and management oversight that drives cost savings of between 15% - 35%. Currently, our Delivery Centers are strategically located in Detroit, Mich.; Eau Claire, Wis. and Kansas City, Mo.

By working through our Delivery Centers, you can effectively manage operational risk as well as reduce co-employment risk typically experienced with staff supplementation engagements. We offer greater versatility for managing costs, risk and resources than traditional outsourced models. Our approach enables our clients to realize the benefits of an outsource service without losing in-house management and control.

As a domestic alternative in your overall global resource management strategy, Delivery Centers by Genesis10 offer distinct advantages over off-shoring. For example, the Delivery Center model is predicated on designing a capability with transparency—with no hidden costs. We focus on driving results efficiently and aligning to your organization's process, methods and culture.

Delivery Centers by Genesis10 function as an integral component to your human capital management strategy.

Delivery Centers enable you to capture and sustain immediate and long-term benefits based on how it is integrated into your overall human capital management strategy.

Our Delivery Centers can also be utilized to outsource a discrete process or a project. The Delivery Center model provides a unique value proposition for full life cycle support from implementation to maintenance. Delivery Centers by Genesis10 create the opportunity to take out cost without increasing your oversight burden, while managing operational risk and integrating a predictable capability.

We can operate as an extension of your resource value chain.

Genesis10 recruits, hires and employs a wide range of talent and deploys them efficiently, providing cost-effective solutions to your business challenges. Unlike a typical staffing company that virtually disappears once a consultant starts the position—or a management consulting firm that requires usage of pre-prescribed methodology and practices—Genesis10 takes a collaborative approach and operates as an extension of your business's value chain.

We align our delivery approach with your organizational processes, tools, technologies and culture, enabling your company to integrate our Delivery Centers' resources and infrastructure into your day-to-day business.

In an ever-changing business climate, you'll find the scalable, sustainable capacity you need at one of our Delivery Centers—a cost-efficient solution when your workforce needs to flex, adapt or surge.
